PUBLISHED DAILY, AT NO. 21 WATER STREET, BY BEALS & GREENE.—CHARLES GORDON GREENE EDITOR.

VOLUME XIII. NO. 46.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 26, 1837.

PRICE $6 PER ANN. IN ADVANCE.

MANHATTAN HOUSE.

NO. 68 DUANE-STREET, NEW YORK.
JAMES RYAN, the public he has taken the large building in Duane street, 6 doors from Broadway, for the purpose of a HOTEL and RESTAURANT. The interior of the building has been entirely taken out, and refitted expressly to suit the business of the present occupant.

Mr. Ryan will keep the Manhattan House for the accommodation of Clubs and Parties. The best wines and Liquors will be furnished from his cellar, having been carefully selected from the best stocks in Boston, a large portion of them being of the celebrated stocks long in the cellar of Mr. G. L. of late of the Exchange Coffee House. Rooms will be furnished for References and Counter Maitain. Transient and permanent boarders will be accommodated in the best style known in the country, and elegant apartments will be let, with or without service.

The Hotel will be supplied with every delicacy of the various seasons. Breakfasts, Dinners and Suppers, of every description, will be served at short notice, and various soups will be ready every day from eleven to three. Mr. Ryan is confident that in this department, his own experience, added to the skill of the persons employed as cuisiniers, will enable him to please the most fastidious epicures, both in respect to quality and style.

Those friends who have known the character of Mr. Ryan's House in Boston, are assured, will find every accommodation better, his means more ample, and his diligence quite as untiring; and from such strangers in this city, as love excellence in the various departments of his profession, he would beg the favor of an early call, with the full hope of giving satisfaction.

EPIT. House was opened on the 15th June, 1837.

EPIT. Je17

MARLBORO' HOTEL.

The subscriber would respectfully give notice, that he has taken the MARLBORO' HOTEL, and is now ready to see his friends. The house has been thoroughly repaired, enlarged, and neatly panelled and papered. The furniture and bedsteads, and the accommodations in every respect are believed to be equal to any other Hotel in the city. No pains will be spared to furnish the table with every article the market affords. Efforts will be made to furnish the table with the products of free labor, and provision will also be made for those who prefer vegetable diet. Religious worship will be regularly maintained every day, and as far as possible to prevent, or compay be received or will be set on the Sabbath. No smoking allowed. The Hotel will be kept entirely on the Temperance principle, and while not a particle of intoxicating liquor will be sold or used, it will be a quiet home for gentlemen travelling with their families, as well as for others. There are several private rooms, for the accommodation of small families as permanent boarders. Application for permanent board will be received at the Hotel every day.

POETRY.

WHY DIDST THOU COME !

I was a hermit, dwelling alone,
Masking my home where the wild winds moan;
The waves that rush'd through my cavern drear,
Were all the music that I ever'd to hear;
No step of mortal disturb'd the gloom,
For me and rest there was ample room,—
Why did'st thou come, with thine eyes of light,
To tell how dismal is starless night ?

I was a shepherd, deep in a glen
Shelter'd far from the haunts of men;
No care had I but my simple sheep
As under the hawthorn I lay to sleep;
No distant prospect my fancy drew,
But other meadows and pastures new,—
Why did'st thou come with a form so fair
To teach me a lesson of love and care ?

I was a wanderer, changing still,
Knowing no joy but my varied will,
Seeking pleasure from shore to shore,
Free as the wave that my vessel bore;
With a heart untroubl'd by pensive thought,
Like a desert-shrine by no pilgrim sought,—
Why did'st thou come with thy radiant brow
To make the ruin that grieves me now !

LINES—BY J. G. PERCIVAL.

Sitting by a meadow brook,
In the month of June,
Once a short repose I took,
Just at sunny noon,
Blossoms, many tinted shade
O'er the meadow fair;
But one blossom stood alone,
'Mong them all a star.
Once it seemed a full blown rose,
Golden lily then;
Wreaths of snow-drops now unclose,
Blooms the rose again.
Who can tell the wondrous flower—
Flower that reigns alone ?
He, who Beauty's magic power,
O'er the heart has known.—Knickerbocker.

THE MAGNOLIA.

We did not see the article which appeared in the N. Y. Commercial Gazette, and to which the New York Star replies—but understand that it ridicules our description of this beautiful plant, calling the N. E. Magnolia nothing but a "Lobolly Boy." The Colonel had better learn before he undertakes to teach.

"Magnolia."—Our neighbor of the Commercial is disposed to sue at the New England Magnolia; but had he been so fortunate as to enjoy a sight of that remarkable shrub as it grows in its sequestered haunts, laden with a profusion of delicious blossoms, he could not have been guilty of such arrant treason towards the floral queen of the north. The "Lobolly Boy" indeed ! What does the man mean by applying such contumacious epithets to one of the fairest creations of the vegetable world ? Does he know that it is the Magnolia Glauca of which he speaks—a most worthy member of that magnificent family of plants, and only exceeded in beauty by some of its own breeders who choose to inhabit a more genial climate ?

The plant in question is the only species of the magnolia found so far north as New England, and is said to have been discovered there in only one locality, which is near Gloucester, Massachusetts. It is unquestionably the most superb native flowering shrub of the north, and possesses so much of the character of its southern brethren, both in the magnitude of its flowers and the chastened richness of their tint, that it seems, amidst the homely vegetation by which it is surrounded, like a stranger who has wandered far from his native clime.—N. Y. Star.

Magnolias.—This rare, beautiful and fragrant flower, which is found no where in this quarter of the country, except in a little swamp, a short distance from the main road about three miles from the Hotel in Gloucester, is now in full bloom and sweetness.—Gloucester Democrat.

A MARRIAGE.

"Hail Weeded Love,"—Milton.
About five minutes and a half before twelve o'clock yesterday morning, a line of carriages drove up to St. Thomas' Church, in Broadway. The sacred doors of that edifice were partly open, and preparations were making in the aisle to select that portion of the holy services by which two are bound in one forever and ever.

As soon as the carriages stopped, a beautiful and splendidly dressed young lady was haled out attended by several maid's in full costume for the great and interesting ceremony of human life. The whole party moved into the Church. In a moment the fair one, sometimes blushing as the rose, then pale as the lily—agitated by hopes and fears—was led trembling to the altar. A group formed around her. A gentleman of fine mein and manly aspect, separated from the group, and approached the sacred desk, where stood the book. The Revrend Clergyman lifted up his hand and said :—

"Dearly beloved, we are gathered together here in the sight of God, and in the face of this company, to join together this man and this woman in holy matrimony, which is commanded of Saint Paul to be honorable among all men; and therefore is not by any to be entered into unadvisedly or lightly, but reverently, discreetly, advisedly, soberly, and in the fear of God. Into this holy estate, these two persons present come, now to be joined. If any man can show just cause, why they may not lawfully be joined together, let him now speak, or else hereafter for never in this world."—

None spoke. During this holy prayer, every one held down their face with great reverence and propriety. The Clergyman, turning to the gentleman, again spoke—

"Wilt thou have this woman to thy wedded wife, to live together after God's ordinance, in the holy estate of matrimony ? Wilt thou love her, comfort her, honor, and keep her, in sickness and in health; and forsaking all others, keep thee only unto her, so long as ye both shall live ?"

The gentleman bowed, and answered in a firm tone "I will." casting a look on the lady who was blushing like the rose.

The Clergyman then turned to the lady, and asked her—

"Wilt thou have this man to thy wedded husband, to live together after God's ordinance, in the holy estate of matrimony ? Wilt thou obey him, and serve him, love, honor, and keep him, in sickness and forsoaking all others, keep thee only unto him, so long as ye both shall live ?"

To this the beautiful bride looked up with an angel smile, trembling between emotion and timidity, and replied in the softest whisper—"I will." On this the Clergyman took in one hand the soft right hand of the bride from her father, and then the firm right hand of the bridegroom in the other, and put them together.

A beautiful ring was then put on the fourth finger of the left hand of the bride, and to finish all, the Clergyman repeated the following prayer :—

"God the Father, God the Son, God the Holy Ghost, bless, preserve, and keep you. The Lord mercifully with his favor look upon you, and fill you with spiritual beatitude and grace; that ye may so live together in this life, that in the world to come ye may have life everlasting. Amen."

On this a visible sensation of joy spread around the group. The smiles again came to the soft faces of the ladies—the gentlemen looked pleased. In a moment all were in their carriages. The company drove down Broadway, and at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the beautiful bride, with her bridegroom, her husband, and his friends, started on a sumptuous tour to Niagara.

Many, many happy days to the wedded couple !—N. Y. Herald.

BOSTON MORNING POST.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 26, 1837.

Extract of a letter from a friend at the West.—I have been here two months—have travelled considerably—and have seen several, if not all of the varieties of Western character. You would not like the mode of life here—but you would like some of the characteristics of the people. Their minds are generally free; their opinions liberal and independent; you rarely find an individual who is strongly tinctured with religious bigotry. On the other hand their morals are not especially pure, a great deal of knavery and libertinism prevails throughout the western country. It is probably a natural consequence, that men here should be more unprincipled in their dealing than in a settled and well organized state of society, as in the Eastern states. Here men, from all quarters, are thrown together for the first time in their lives, and tomorrow they separate for the last time.

Hence, they regard but little each other's future good opinion, being satisfied if they can produce that impression which will answer their selfish purposes at the present time. Their sole object is to watch for every opportunity to profit them selves at the expense of their neighbors and strangers. Many are the poor daps that get "sucked in," as the phrase is, by the sharp ones. The people are nearly all democratic in their feelings—although they are not in all cases very profound in their judgment of what constitutes democracy in government. They have their minds too much absorbed in the pursuit of the "almighty dollar," to stop long to inquire in relation to anything that does not immediately affect their pockets. There are too many, by far, who want nothing else of government but to establish banks—make canals and railroads—build up towns, &c.—and if they can but accomplish these objects, individual rights may go to the devil, or any other destination; it is all one to them. "Go a head, and the devil take the hindmost" is the common maxim of the community."

Mr. Henshaw's Letter.—The answer of Mr. Henshaw of Boston, to an invitation from the Committee of Arrangements of the Democratic celebration of the 4th of July by the Democratic citizens of Worcester County is published in to day's paper and should be perused with attention by our readers. Mr. Henshaw is thoroughly acquainted with Commerce in all its relations; with importing and exporting; domestic wholesale and retail business; foreign and inland exchanges; bank issues and bank retractions; and his acquaintance has been obtained by much experience in commercial matters. The man experimentally acquainted with the subjects of which he speaks, should be listened to with confidence of learning truth concerning those subjects; truths which the mere theorizer, should he maintain them at all, will ever be confounded with images of the brain, from which they cannot be separated. The well known integrity of this writer entitles his remarks to respect. Where is the man of any political party who dares to raise his voice against Mr. Henshaw's integrity ? The most reckless whig paper, the Boston Post, calls him "the intelligent Collector of the Port of Boston."

This is a compliment, few men of Mr. Henshaw's politics

ly conducted. Let there be an agreement at what time each shall start, say one coach at the expiration of every ten or fifteen minutes, and this punctually at the moment. Then each would have its share of support; public convenience would be promoted; a fair price might be obtained, neither too much nor too little; the present racing and unnecessary wear and tear of horse flesh, and, it may be added, inhumanity to the docile and useful animal, would be avoided; and peace, quietness and good nature would take the place of hostility, mutual irritation and great unnecessary expenditure. It is for the public benefit, that two lines should be supported upon this route. Competition, amicable competition, is every thing in this country.

AN OBSERVER.

Electro-Magnetism.—Of this new power can be augmented in proportion to the increased size of the machine by which it is developed; it must inevitably supersede the agency of steam, for all purposes to which it is applied. This circumstance, however, remains doubtful. Mr Davy, the inventor, says the Knickerbocker, "first saw a galvanic magnet, it appears, about three years ago; and from the wonderful effects produced by suspending a weight of one hundred and fifty pounds from a small galvanic magnet, he immediately inferred, without any knowledge of the theory or experiments of others, that he could propel machinery by galvanic magnetism!" He purchased the magnet, and produced his first rotary motion in July, 1834, only six months after. By arranging a certain number of fixed electro-magnets in a permanent circle, and an equal number in a revolving wheel, the application of the electric current of a galvanic battery produces—by means of a most surprising mechanical contrivance, in instantly reversing the poles, as the moveable magnetic circle revolves—a rotary motion of the most astonishing velocity and power, considering the feeble agents employed."

All the Lawyers agree that Judge Thacher exceeded his power in compelling Mr Hildreth to recognize.

All the spectators of that ridiculous farce in the Municipal Court, are of opinion that it has resulted in a very trifling increase of the present popularity (1) of Judge Thacher—in a still more trifling increase of the self-complacency of sundry (two) of the compounding jury—and in little good to any body here, excepting the unfortunate culprit.

All the Lawyers, other spectators and rhetoricians agree that the last sentence of that elaborate opinion of the Judge, was a beautiful specimen of a climax.

All agree that when faults are faults of the head and not of the heart, resignation is better than impeachment.

All agree that jurors in this country are judges of law and fact, and that if a learned judge of the Supreme and Circuit Courts takes the liberty of stepping out of his province to argue the case to a jury, it is no reason why a judge of a County Court, should deem it his duty to become a mocking bird.

CHACUN A SON GOUT.

An Oration delivered before the citizens of Boston, on the Sixty-first Anniversary of American Independence—July 4th, 1837. By Jonathan Chapman. Printed at the request of the City Authorities. Boston, Eastburn, & Co.—We think no person will find any fault with this Oration. It is a very neat—but not an eloquent production; it is very pretty but not powerful. It belongs to that class of performances to which Governor Everett's orations belong—consisting of common place remarks dressed up with considerable effect and written in a sort of gentlemanly manner that is calculated to enlist the sympathies of the reader. All these productions resemble a stream that is perfectly smooth and tranquil, not because it is deep, but because it constantly avoids all breakers, winding only through smooth and level plains. Mr C. has proved by his Oration that he is a gentleman of taste, and if we were to find fault with it, we should censure it for what it wants rather than for what it contains.

Extract of a letter from an officer on board of the U. S. ship Independence to his father in this city:

U. S. Ship Independence, June 6, 1837.

"Sixteen days out and land in sight—just discovered. They tell me it is Cape Clear. If that is the case we are too far to the North; but we have had easterly winds for the last two or three days. The ship sails splendidly, no officer in her has seen a better sailor. We have had very pleasant weather during the whole passage—passed two or three sail every day, 'cause why—we beat them all.

Portsmouth, June 12.—Here we are at last, safe at anchor—how long we shall remain here I cannot form any idea. We are 22 days from Boston to this place, and could have made it much shorter had it been necessary.—We shall stop at Copenhagen on our passage to Russia, and then back to this place. Mr Dallas and family left this afternoon for London."

The N. Y. Gazette gives the following account of one of the most disgraceful scenes on record—

"At about 11 o'clock, two clergymen, followed by their respective friends, simultaneously entered the church, and made for the pulpit. On reaching the sacred desk, the passage was mutually divided et armis, and sticks and clubs were put freely in requisition; being supplied by breaking up the rails around the altar! Possession of the pulpit was gained alternately by both parties, and both parties alternately dislodged. Whilst matters were in this frightful state of victory and defeat, the alarm bell was rung and the firemen rushed to the spot, determined we believe to throw cold water upon the fiery valor of the reverend belligerents. In the meantime, however, a strong party from the Police Office, parted the combatants, cleared the church and closed it; very much to the dissatisfaction of both parties. The clergymen are said to have fought like very Blaue; having their clerical garments torn to rags, and one of them retiring with a remarkably bloody nose received ad ostium ecclesie."

Mr Greene—I noticed in your paper some weeks ago, an account of the manufacture of Violins by Ira White, Garden street, Boston. I have since purchased the one referred to in the communication which you published, and, in justice to Mr White, I must remark, that, from my knowledge of those Violins among us which are considered to be first rate, I do not hesitate to pronounce this instrument superior to anything of the kind which I have as yet seen.

There is a peculiarity of construction in Mr White's Violins, which not only gives them a beautiful appearance, but, it appears to me, upon philosophical and mechanical principles, is better calculated to produce a full, round, sweet and perfect tone, than that of any model which I have ever examined.

AN AMATEUR.

"We understand, that Lynde M. Walter, Esq. Editor of the Transcript, was the foreman of the Grand Jury, whose Presentment at the close of their term of service is said to have been suppressed by His Honor Judge Thacher, as stated in yesterday's Post. We should like to see a copy of the instrument, Cousin, as we guess it contains matters and things of consequence to the public. At least some of the type standing?"

The little boy who was drowned on Sunday afternoon, was the son of Mr William Greenleaf, not Mr Gardner G., as at first stated. He was not "chasing doves" when he fell into the water, but trying to hook up his fishing rod and line which had been thrown in by an elder brother to prevent his attempting to fish, from the apprehension that he might fall into the water.

The boy, in reply to a request from the citizens of Broome County, N. Y., has refused to call the Legislature together for the purpose of repealing the law prohibiting the issuing of small bills. The Governor thinks the law a salutary one.

"Nearly all, if not quite all, the democratic papers in the State, have expressed very favorable opinions of Mr Henshaw's Letter to the Worcester Committee. On the First Page will be found some remarks by the Essex Banner on the subject."

"Mr. County Attorney Parker is not the writer of the article signed X., in the Centinel & Gazette of yesterday, when he fell into the water, but trying to hook up his fishing rod and line which had been thrown in by an elder brother to prevent his attempting to fish, from the apprehension that he might fall into the water."

LATER AND IMPORTANT.

Death of William IV!—The New York Journal of Commerce, dated Monday evening, contains the following important intelligence:—

By the packet ship St. James, Capt. Sebor, we have received London papers of the 20th ult. inclusive. The King of England is dead. The news of this event is thus announced in the Morning Chronicle of the 20th—

His Majesty expired about twenty minutes past three o'clock this morning. The Archbishop of Canterbury was present as were also several members of the King's family. Immediately after the decease the Archbishop of Canterbury left Windsor Castle for Town.

London, Monday, July 19.—The proceedings at the Stock Exchange continue wholly devoid of interest, and the quotations scarcely vary. Consols left off at 91 1/8 to 1 1/4; Exchequer Bills and India Bonds, 33 to 35 premium. United States Bank Post Notes are 93 to 94.

The U. S. ship Independence, from Boston, at Spit Head, to sail for St Petersburg, July 4.

San Sebastian, June 13.—The theatre of war is transferred to Catalonia. Shame to the Spanish Generals for it! Nothing can excuse them for having allowed Don Carlos a d Don Sebastian to have progressed so far.—However, what can you expect where treachery and incapacity are the sole attributes that guide their conduct?

After all, I should not be surprised to see Don Carlos on the throne of Madrid, not that I think he has the slightest chance of remaining there, thanks to the republicans for it, not to the constitutional army and the Queen's Government.

Liverpool, Saturday, June 17.—Cotton—our Cotton market has been very steady to-day, and in some instances higher prices have been obtained, the sales amount to 4000 bags, of which about 1000 American and 2100 Surat, were taken to export. There has been little inquiry for speculation.

Paris papers to the 17th of June, by the Louis Philippe, have reached New York.

A passenger in the Louis Philippe brings the report of the failure of the house of Welles & Co. of Paris. Another passenger, however, says the house had been assisted by the Bank of Paris, and would go on.

The British Legion has left the service of the Queen of Spain.

A melancholy affair took place at Paris on the 15th ult. About 11 o'clock in the evening, when 200,000 spectators were retiring from the fete on the Champ de Mars, one of the passages into town became a perfect jam. At this moment a woman fell, or was pushed down by the crowd, and became an obstacle over which others were prostrated, who in their turn became an obstacle to others. The scene was dreadful, and the results melancholy in the extreme. Twenty-four persons were killed, the greater part of them women, and more than thirty were wounded. In consequence of this disaster the fete of the Hotel de Ville was postponed till the 19th.

Among the victims are a young collegian and the wife of a rich merchant recently retired from business. Three of the deceased belonged to one family.

Of the wounded 14 had since died, (up to the 16th,) making the whole number of lives lost by this extraordinary accident 38. Some others were in a dangerous condition.

N. Y. Jour. of Com.

Private letters per Virginia, at New York, from Birmingham and Sheffield, state that a great panic was prevalent among the manufacturers, in consequence of a large amount of protested bills having been returned from London, and fears were entertained that the result would be some very extensive failures. From Manchester, we learn that the panic was not so great as in other towns in the vicinity. The demand for cotton goods is limited, and the orders from the United States which had been received for fall goods, was to a very small extent.

We regret to learn the Virginian has brought out a considerable amount of protested bills, (about 100,000 pounds sterling.)—N. Y. Gaz.

The Princess Victoria is supposed to be in favor of the reform party—or rather those who manufacture her opinions for her, are supposed to be inclined that way. Therefore, the reformers say that Peel cannot get office under her, unless he will promise to pass the Irish Municipal Bill, the Church-rate Bill, the Irish Church Bill; go for Triennial Parliaments and Vote by Ballot; repeal the Corn Laws; reform the Lords, and send the Bishops to their dioceses! Her Royal Highness won't require all this we'll let a cockle, for the very nature of woman is aristocratic, and if Victoria does not prove to be a high tory the moment a diadem presses her brow, we shall be much mistaken.

The Boldness of Midnight Robbers appears to be on the increase. On Monday night, Mr Foster's cellar, beneath our office was entered and robbed of $500 in specie, a silver watch, a pail full of sweet-meats, and three dozen of Lucifer matches. The robber or robbers wrested from its socket one of the stout iron bars, which protected the cellar window, and thus gained an entrance, and when he or they retired, fire was set to a comb of the matches, which were found half burnt upon the floor in the morning. The watch was a large English one, with the case much worn.

By the last mails from New Orleans, we learn that the State Bank of Louisiana and the Canal Bank talk of resuming, if they can arrange with their depositors.

The resumption in New Orleans will only be for one day, the 11th of August, in order to evade the penalties of the law.

Lient. Taylor, of the Independence, was on parole at Metamoras.

The brig Gen. Urrea has been formally given up to the Mexicans.

Advices from Tallahassee to July 8, speak of the Indians having crossed the Swannee. They were driven back from Madison County by Capt. Bradley, of the Florida Militia. A large amount of the property they had stolen was recaptured.

Fires.—Eight or nine dwelling houses and stores were destroyed by fire at Albany on Friday night. The extensive iron foundry and steam engine factory of Messrs. Wells, Miller & Clarke, in President street, Baltimore, was wholly destroyed by fire on Saturday morning, with the exception of the smith's shop. The fire is attributed to an incendiary. Loss $10,000.

A Host.—The New York Spirit of the times intimates that Mad. Vestris, Fanny Essler, Duvernay, Ellen Tree, Miss Clifton, Mrs Maeder, Miss Horton, Abbott, Hill, Forrest, Mr and Mrs Wood, Templeton, Power and Kean, will all appear at the Park Theatre during the forthcoming season.

Look out for Lauriat this afternoon. He'll have to buy a big basket to take up all his passengers. The novelty of seeing three persons, and one of them a young lady, go up, will attract an immense multitude. People who wish for a good view and a comfortable position, had better cross the Ferry early.

Gov. Marcy, in reply to a request from the citizens of Broome County, N. Y., has refused to call the Legislature together for the purpose of repealing the law prohibiting the issuing of small bills. The Governor thinks the law a salutary one.

Nearly all, if not quite all, the democratic papers in the State, have expressed very favorable opinions of Mr Henshaw's Letter to the Worcester Committee. On the First Page will be found some remarks by the Essex Banner on the subject.

Mr. County Attorney Parker is not the writer of the article signed X., in the Centinel & Gazette of yesterday, when he fell into the water, but trying to hook up his fishing rod and line which had been thrown in by an elder brother to prevent his attempting to fish, from the apprehension that he might fall into the water.

AN AMATEUR.

We understand, that Lynde M. Walter, Esq. Editor of the Transcript, was the foreman of the Grand Jury, whose Presentment at the close of their term of service is said to have been suppressed by His Honor Judge Thacher, as stated in yesterday's Post. We should like to see a copy of the instrument, Cousin, as we guess it contains matters and things of consequence to the public. At least some of the type standing?

The little boy who was drowned on Sunday afternoon, was the son of Mr William Greenleaf, not Mr Gardner G., as at first stated. He was not "chasing doves" when he fell into the water, but trying to hook up his fishing rod and line which had been thrown in by an elder brother to prevent his attempting to fish, from the apprehension that he might fall into the water.
